QUALITY STANDARD SUCCESS FOR TUTORING CENTRE

A Stoke-based company that provides out of school tuition for local youngsters has become the first business of its kind in the Midlands to be awarded two prestigious quality awards.

Having already achieved the prestigious ISO 9001 quality standard, A Star Tutoring Centres has been awarded a further international standard for its commitment to client confidentiality, information, security and data protection.

To become an ISO 27001 registered, the company had to demonstrate robust systems to protect the confidentiality of its clients.

Explained Centre Director Abdul Rahim, a maths teacher who has taught at schools across the UK: "Because we are dealing with young people, security is extremely important to us and we will undergo continual assessment to maintain our ISO 27001 status.

"The standard ensures that adequate controls are in place to ensure the confidentiality, integrity and availability of information for 'interested parties'. In this case it relates to our pupils and their parents."

The A Star Tutoring Centre in Liverpool Road, Stoke helps pupils studying for primary and secondary examinations, GCSEs and independent school entrance examinations. Subjects covered at the centre are mathematics, English and science with lessons taking place after school hours.

Continued Abdul: “Our pupils come from varied backgrounds with a wide variety of needs and we aim to provide a friendly yet safe learning environment.

“As well as carrying out extensive checks on our tutors, becoming the first businesses of our type to achieve ISO 27001 has played an important part in achieving this aim.”
